

“Superstition” and authentic theology of woman

Summary

According to J. Bochensky OP, false beliefs, however seemed to be true, are called “superstitions”. Regarding women, one can find three examples of such “superstitions”: 1st. women is a human being but of an inferior kind; 2nd. Women, simply, is a man and she should do everything to become like a man; 3rd. women is a “super-man” – a human being of superior kind. However, the truth about women is different: she is not a man, but like a man she is a person. The unity of human nature is based on sex diversity. The John Paul II mentioned about specific dignity of a women, about theology, which would return proper honour belonging to every women.
