Abstract:

A teacher’s responsibility for the unsaid; or, on pedagogical neglect in school.

The issue of educational negligence at school has serious pedagogical repercussions. It concerns tutors’ negligence of actions relating to subject, educational, communicative, social and moral competence. The teacher’s responsibility resulting from his profession should also include activities which have been neglected. In this way, a chance of an effective improvement of the educational process arises.

Key words: responsibility, educational negligence, harmfulness of teaching attitudes, teaching competence
